

BIG LAND DEAL MAY BE CLOSED

Scheme to Purchase 376,798
Acres in Mexico.

WILL DECIDE THIS MORNING

BISHOP W. W. CLUFF MAKES HIS REPORT.

Bishop W. W. Cluff returned home last evening from Mexico, where he went to inspect the Tabasco tract of land in the interest of a number of wealthy men in Salt Lake who intend to colonize it. If the report of the bishop is favorable, there will be a meeting of these men this morning at the office of King, Burton & King. At this meeting it will be determined whether or not the proposition to purchase the tract of land will be accepted. If that is the decision steps will be taken to incorporate for the purpose of promoting the enterprise. It is the intention of those interested, if all is satisfactory, to divide the tract into small parcels and sell these to actual settlers. The idea is to send a colony down from Utah to develop the land.

When Bishop Cluff Says.
When seen at his residence last night and asked about Tabasco, Bishop Cluff said:

"This was my second trip this summer to the republic. I consider southern Mexico an ideal place for a home, and were I younger I would certainly decide to move down there. Although I am now well advanced in years, age will not prevent me from making profitable investments where there are quicker and larger returns and a good market for all kinds of produce and a climate that is all that can be desired. Remember, that the healthfulness of any locality depends on the circulation of air and water, and not necessarily on location or elevation.

"I was sent down to Mexico as a representative of a company here to examine a tract of 376,798 acres of agricultural and grazing land in the extreme northwestern part of the state of Tabasco. The main body of this tract is about ten by thirty miles, extending east from the Gulf of Mexico along the coast, and is heavily timbered with oak, mahogany and cedar. In this portion are two commodious harbors, Santa Anna and Tonala.

"The smaller division of this tract lies at right angles to the former and is about seven by fifty miles in extent, fronting along the east bank of the Tonala river, which has an average depth of thirty-five feet and is about 100 wide, with well defined banks, and some running water free from decomposed vegetation, driftwood and rapids, making an ideal avenue of commerce.

Nature of the Land.
"This interior portion of the land is open prairie, heavily soded with privet grass, tree high, noted for its fattening qualities. The land gradually from the coast and river back to an elevation of 1,500 feet, and is supplied with excellent springs and streams.

"In the center of this inland portion lies Lake Rosaria, which covers an area of five by twenty miles. This lake is nestled like a huge white diamond (its pure, clear crystal waters) surrounded by one connected chain of elevated banks projecting out into the lake as if trying to outlive each other—when on each of these elevations there is a house of thirty people the picture is complete. Its bottom and shore are firm as pavement. Surrounded, as it is, by virgin forests, it is the most beautiful lake that eyes ever beheld.

"In the center of the coast portion is a salt water lake five by fifteen miles in area, which is connected with the ocean, and it abounds with ocean fish, snappers, oysters, and shrimps. The banks surrounding this lake are the same as those of Lake Rosaria in formation and beauty. It would make an ideal tourist.

Cures Winter Cough.
J. E. Gover, 101 N. Main street, Ottawa, Kan., writes: "Every fall it has been my wife's trouble to catch a severe cold, and therefore to cough all winter long. Last fall I got for her a bottle of Horehound Syrup. She used it and has been able to sleep soundly all night long. Whenever the cough troubles her, two or three doses stop the cough, and she is able to be up and well." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by Z. C. M. I. drug department.

Shakespeare.

"A GUIDE AND PHILOSOPHER"

"AN ENGLISHMAN WITH AMERICAN IMPROVEMENTS."

To Shakespeare the pupils of All Hallows' college were yesterday afternoon advised by Frederick Warde might they look for a true guide to upright manhood and citizenship, for solace in their sorrow, for assurance in their anxiety and for philosophy and instruction at all times when they are men. Let your recreation be fair.

"Now as to books. Read all the good authors. Read Thackeray, Scott, Washington Irving, and when you feel inclined take up Shakespeare. You'll find him your biggest friend, you'll find in his works more comprehensive thought, more wit, humor and comfort than in any other writings.

"You'll find in Shakespeare a friend, a teacher, a philosopher. Read his commentaries, read Shakespeare. Open his volume anywhere and you'll find gems of prose and philosophy as pure and beautiful as dewdrops. In pain, in trouble, in doubt, in anxiety, they will soothe and inspire you.

"William Shakespeare was the most complete accomplishment of all that is in man."

Mr. Warde then urged the boys to so prepare themselves in their youth that they might be able to express their own thoughts on current questions—express themselves with wisdom, judgment and sentiment. For a quarter of a century he has been a student of Shakespeare. He has read him in every language and in every method that public speakers adopt in order to spellbind their hearers. He has read him in the original, in the aspirant and after-dinner speaker were successfully portrayed.

A Text From Hamlet.
"Don't study elocution, don't practice gestures, cautioned the speaker. If you would be able to express your own thoughts, the best text is to be found in Shakespeare, in Hamlet. I refer to Hamlet's advice to the players."

Mr. Warde then recited the selection, explaining to his auditors how it is found epitomized all the rules of public speaking. He cautioned them to avoid "polysyllabic phrases" to use the shortest, fewest words. He urged that "periods are infinitely more effective than hyphens, colons and semi-colons."

"The worst sinners to be found in the country against public speaking are in the pulpit," he went on. "How I have tried to attend church time after time and find the beautiful thoughts contained in the scriptures mangled of appeal to God, let me cite the Earl of Richmond's address in 'Richard III.'"

Mr. Warde then gave the passage containing the Earl of Richmond's prayer to the Almighty on the battlefield previous to conflict with the last of the Plantagenets. The speaker also recited for his youthful hearers the "Life's but a stage" passage from "As You Like It."

Concluding, Mr. Warde made a earnest appeal to the boys to study Shakespeare, to learn the truths and beauties of his works. To enthusiastic applause he responded.

"Boys, if I have left an impression for good upon your hearts and minds, all I ask is that in years to come you will think of me with some degree of warmth and friendship."

Mr. Warde was accorded a school-boy "hip-hip-hooray" that left no doubt in his mind as to his hearers' feelings towards him. Following his address he held an informal reception in the college parlors.

How Kuropatkin Retreats.
"Kuropatkin today is making a masterful retreat from Mukden, and the farther from Mukden he gets the better he will enjoy himself. From this war we can learn that liberty of thought and freedom of act today are factors in the future. The most perfect specimens of civilization have come through crucibles of the past. Abraham Lincoln—no man has left a deeper or sweeter name—no man achieved more for himself than did this man of poor advantages."

"Now, boys, let me give you some advice: I am 53 years old. I have children and grandchildren. For thirty-eight years I have been traveling, have been before the public as an actor. Mine has been a mimic life—a life of many simulations. By simulation, my end has been to teach the lessons of reality. My advice:

"Lay foundations for the future now by the acquisition of knowledge being conveyed by your teachers. On these foundations, form and place a resolution to accomplish something of value to yourself, and of good to your country. Whatever walk of life you choose—some of you will choose the bar, some will be drawn to the sea, others will say 'I want to be a military man,' while others will till the soil—whatever walk of life you choose, I say, if you are only accomplishing for self, it will be only the just payment of debt to your mother country for the opportunities and advantages which she has so freely given you.

"Boys, don't lose enthusiasm. They say Americans are mercenary. Well, everybody is mercenary. I am myself—have to be—or I couldn't pay my hotel bill. Boys, boast of your country. Never was a time in the world when man had the privilege as today of living under so perfect a government as that of the United States. Be the support of that government. It is founded on a basis of principles, law, order, love and fidelity. Stand by the laws of the land and without order or no community can succeed.

"Boys, Play Ball, Play Fair."
"Now, boys, I want to talk to you about recreation. Play baseball, but always play fair. Play football, but never shirk, never flunk. If you win—hooray. If you lose, never mind, you'll win next time. Be plain, straightforward in your sports when you are men. Let your recreation be fair."

"Now as to books. Read all the good authors. Read Thackeray, Scott, Washington Irving, and when you feel inclined take up Shakespeare. You'll find him your biggest friend, you'll find in his works more comprehensive thought, more wit, humor and comfort than in any other writings.

"You'll find in Shakespeare a friend, a teacher, a philosopher. Read his commentaries, read Shakespeare. Open his volume anywhere and you'll find gems of prose and philosophy as pure and beautiful as dewdrops. In pain, in trouble, in doubt, in anxiety, they will soothe and inspire you.

TELLS OF WORK FOR POOR JEWS

Judge Simon Wolf Visits in Salt Lake.

GUEST OF B'NAI B'RITH

WHAT THAT ORDER IS DOING FOR THE UNFORTUNATE.

Judge Simon Wolf of Washington, D. C., president of the Constitution Grand Lodge of the order of B'nai B'rith, arrived in Salt Lake yesterday evening from Denver on a Rio Grande train that was more than six hours late. He was accompanied by his wife. They went to the Kenyon hotel, where they took rooms for the night, and were greeted by the reception committee, composed of Henry Cohn, William G. Walters, William Graupe and Jacob Morris, appointed by Benjamin Franklin Peixotto lodge, No. 421, of Salt Lake.

Aside from being at the head of the order of B'nai B'rith, Mr. Wolf is a thirty-third degree Mason, and a member of the mother consistory of the world. He belongs, it is said, to the same circle as V. H. Bancroft, Chris Dehl and Jake Greenwald. He has lived in Washington since the early part of 1882. In 1881 he enlisted in the Fifty-first Ohio volunteers, commanded by Judge Stanley Matthews, and served only a few months, being discharged on account of defective eyesight. He was recorder of deeds at Washington in the years 1869-78, and was United States minister to Egypt in 1881-82. He is a native of Bavaria and graduated from the Ohio Law college at Cleveland, O., in 1861.

Object of His Visit.
"I am making a tour of the country," said Mr. Wolf, "to strengthen the B'nai B'rith by increasing its membership. It is my aim to stimulate the interest of the Jewish public in the work of the order, so that our people will join more freely in relieving the congested condition in the state of New York by distributing throughout the country the emigrants who are coming here in consequence of persecutions in other lands."

The order of B'nai B'rith has within the past three years distributed over 30,000 of those people over the United States, and they have become useful and law-abiding citizens. The aims and objects of the order are not mercenary, but educational, philanthropic and patriotic.

So far on my trip of three weeks I have met with phenomenal success and have had large audiences wherever I have addressed the members of the order. Mrs. Wolf and I have been treated with conspicuous kindness and consideration. Owing to the unfortunate delay of over six hours in getting here, I am compelled to make my stay brief, as I must be in San Francisco tomorrow evening, where I will deliver a number of addresses. From San Francisco I shall go to Portland and Seattle, then to Minneapolis, St. Paul, Milwaukee, Chicago, Detroit and other eastern cities.

Care For the Jews.
"I suppose the public would like to know what the order is doing for the Jewish people. For one thing it maintains in Cleveland, O., an orphan asylum in which 500 children are cared for, none of whom are orphans of members of the order. At Atlanta, Ga., we maintain a home in which there are 100 orphans, none of whom except two or three are the children of members of the order. We have a home for the aged and indigent Jews at Yonkers, N. Y., in which 100 people who cannot care for themselves are tenderly cared for, and there are homes and hospitals at New Orleans and Philadelphia that were founded by the order and that are largely maintained by it. We also established and are maintaining the Melchior free library, containing 10,000 volumes, in New York City and a technical school for boys and girls in Philadelphia.

"We presented to the people of the United States that magnificent statue in Fairmount park, Philadelphia, symbolical of religious liberty by an American sculptor, Sir Moses Ezekiel, who is now in Rome, is a member of the order, and was knighted by the king of Italy."

Where Order is Strong.
"The order has seven distinct grand lodges in the United States. Utah is in the fourth district. We have in the United States 20,000 picked men—representative men of our faith. In Europe we have three grand lodges, one in Germany, one in Austria and one in Roumania, and we have affiliating lodges in the Orient. The one in Cairo I instituted when I was minister to Egypt."

"I was the cause of the conference taking place in Washington that brought about the transmission of the Kishineff petition to the czar of Russia. The order is now actively at work on the passport matter, in which we seek to give Jews the right to travel in foreign lands without being subjected to imprisonment or other indignities, and we are trying to lessen the horrors of emigration."

"Utah lodge is named after Benjamin Franklin Peixotto, an American who was sent by General Grant when president, at my request, as consul to Roumania. The position being without emolument. The order maintained him there for six years, and it was through his efforts that great reforms were brought about in that country."
